Got export opportunities but no time to explore them? Could your business benefit from skilled international multilingual experience for your current and future customers?

Why not join up to Canterbury's Job Ready Programme?

The programme matches the skill sets and experience of international students studying in Christchurch and Canterbury with businesses that have projects in global export markets or with global clientele. Ongoing support and follow-up for both the business and student is provided throughout the programme.

Examples of projects our talented students could help with include:

- » Market testing with local international communities
- » Developing social media strategies for international markets
- » Strengthening international business connections
