

TRAUMA INFORMED TRAINING

KATHRYN BERKETT

Ideal for anyone working with children or adults who have experienced trauma in their lives

- Schools and their Support Services
- Social Work Organisations
- Behaviour Support Services
- Trauma Support
- Addiction Services

Early environmental trauma can affect how the brain develops, and this affect can potentially continue to impact throughout life. ENGAGE training will ensure you become more aware of what aspects of the early environment may create negative impacts on development. We will also explore what a positive environment looks like; important if we want to support our little ones to develop to their full potential!
