

Manage Risk

Amplify Benefits

John Parsons visited our school recently with some really great advice for both teachers and parents. John is a huge advocate for technology and the benefits and opportunities it creates. He advises parents how to help children navigate online environments so they are equipped to make safe choices. It's all about managing the risks and amplifying the benefits for children. To be safe in these environments is to value self, value others and think critically.

Value
SELF

Value
OTHERS

Think CRITICALLY

While our children are young, we need to help protect them while they learn these skills. Three golden rules John urges parents to stick to...

- ✓ No social media under the age of 13
- ✓ No devices behind closed doors, such as bedrooms, under the age of 13
- ✓ No R-Rated games
