

How Earth Was Created

BY MOLLY
BAI

Many years ago
Mars and Jupiter
had a huge fight
over whether the
sun or the moon
was more
important.

• Their powers hit
each other
BOOM! "Wow!"
they both screamed. Their powers created a small globe!

Days passed and the globe got bigger and bigger and soon it was the size of a planet. Mars and Jupiter were fighting for a name for the planet.

Mars screamed
"Earth" and Jupiter
shouted "Country"
and so they decided
to have a floating
race. Whoever got to the planet first got to name it.

And so they began to float. Mars got there first so he named it Earth. Jupiter was mad at Mars and so he decided to use his powers and make little islands on Earth and call them countries.

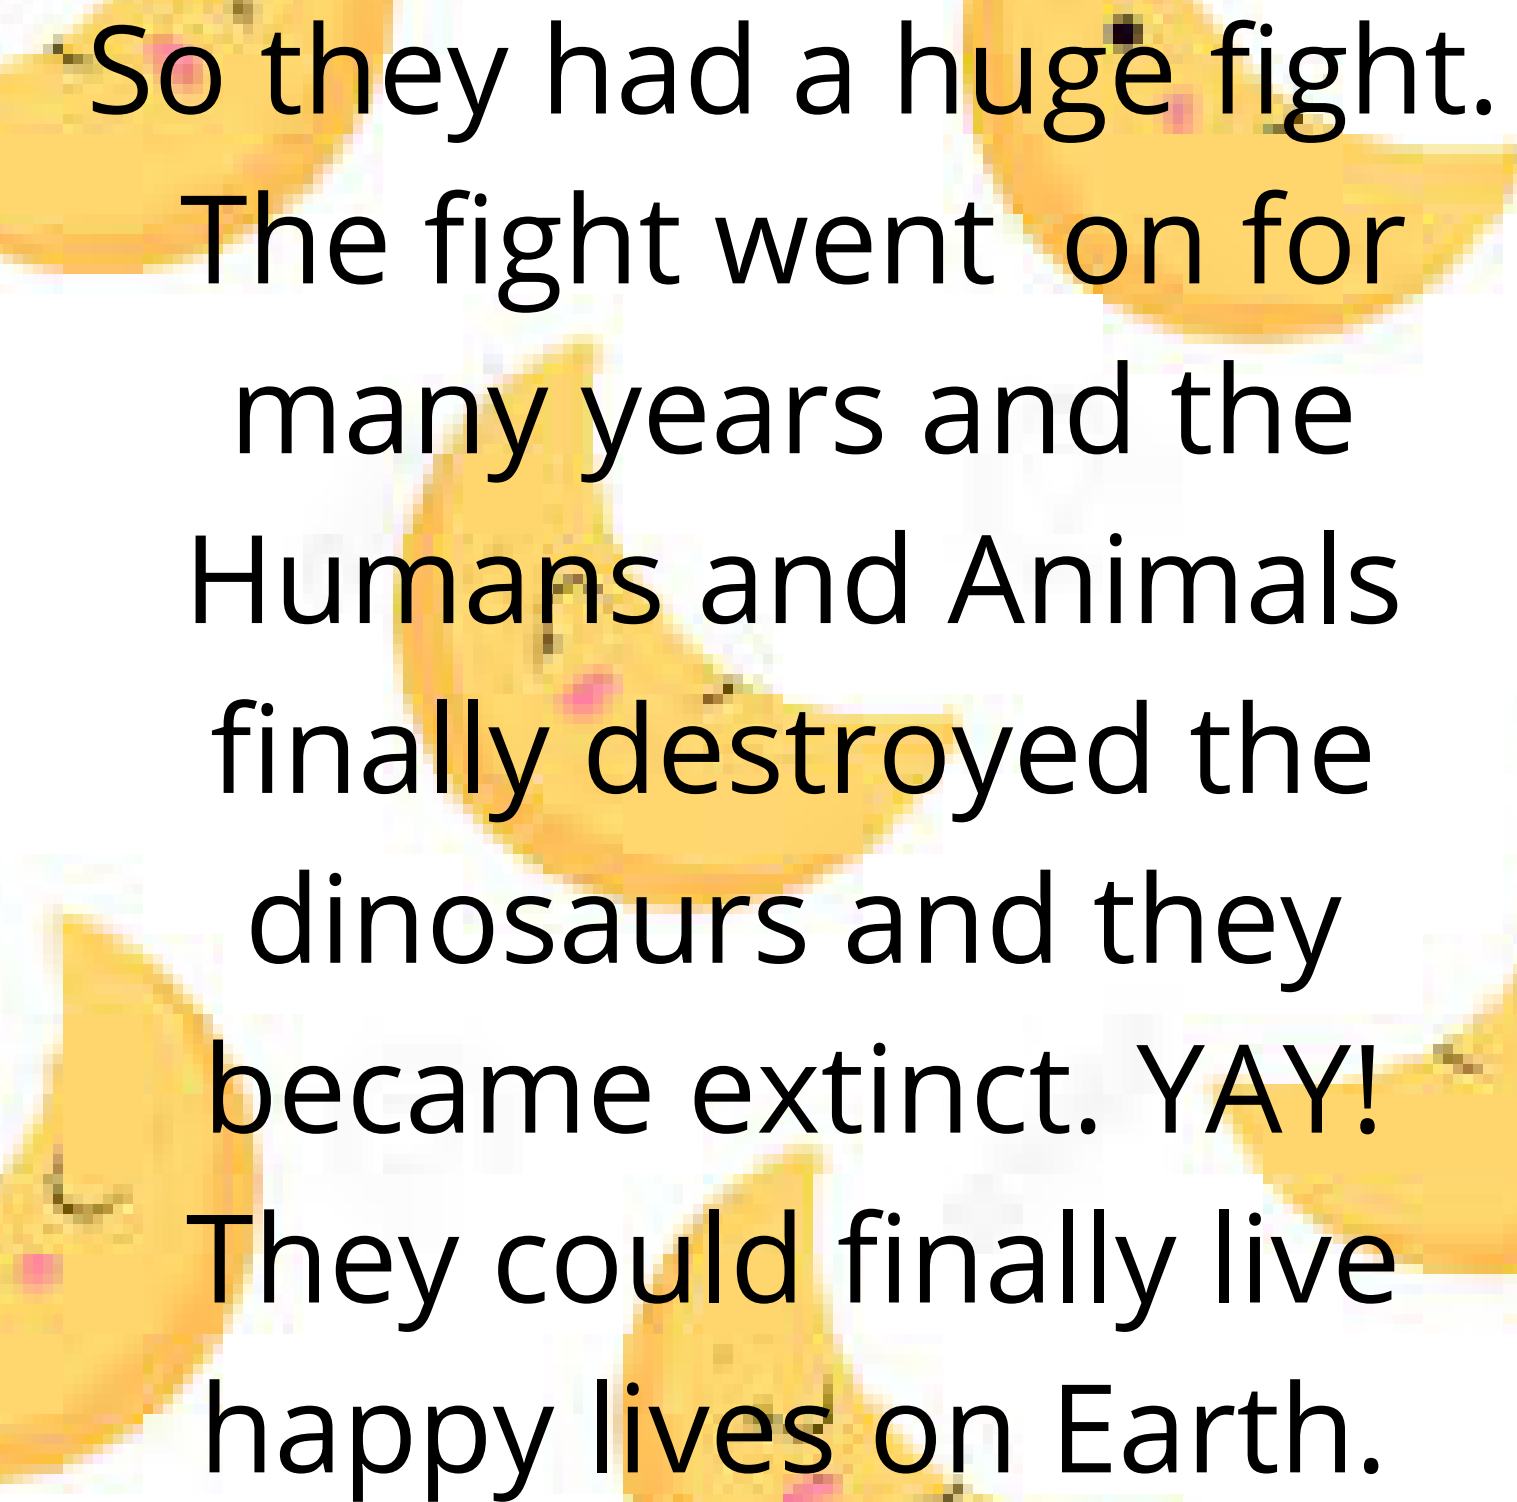

All the countries
Jupiter made got very cool names. One was known as New Zealand, the countries had small
cities and towns on it
such as Dunedin and Queenstown and there were lot more.

After, Mars and Jupiter
forgave each other
they decided to use
their powers and
make some creatures
to live on the new
planet Earth and so they began working
really hard to make it perfect.

They named the different types of creatures Humans and Animals they were all different. "Let's take them to Earth" Mars shouted. "Ok" agreed Jupiter and so they did. When they got there they met dinosaurs and the dinosaurs refused to let the wonderful creatures live on Earth.

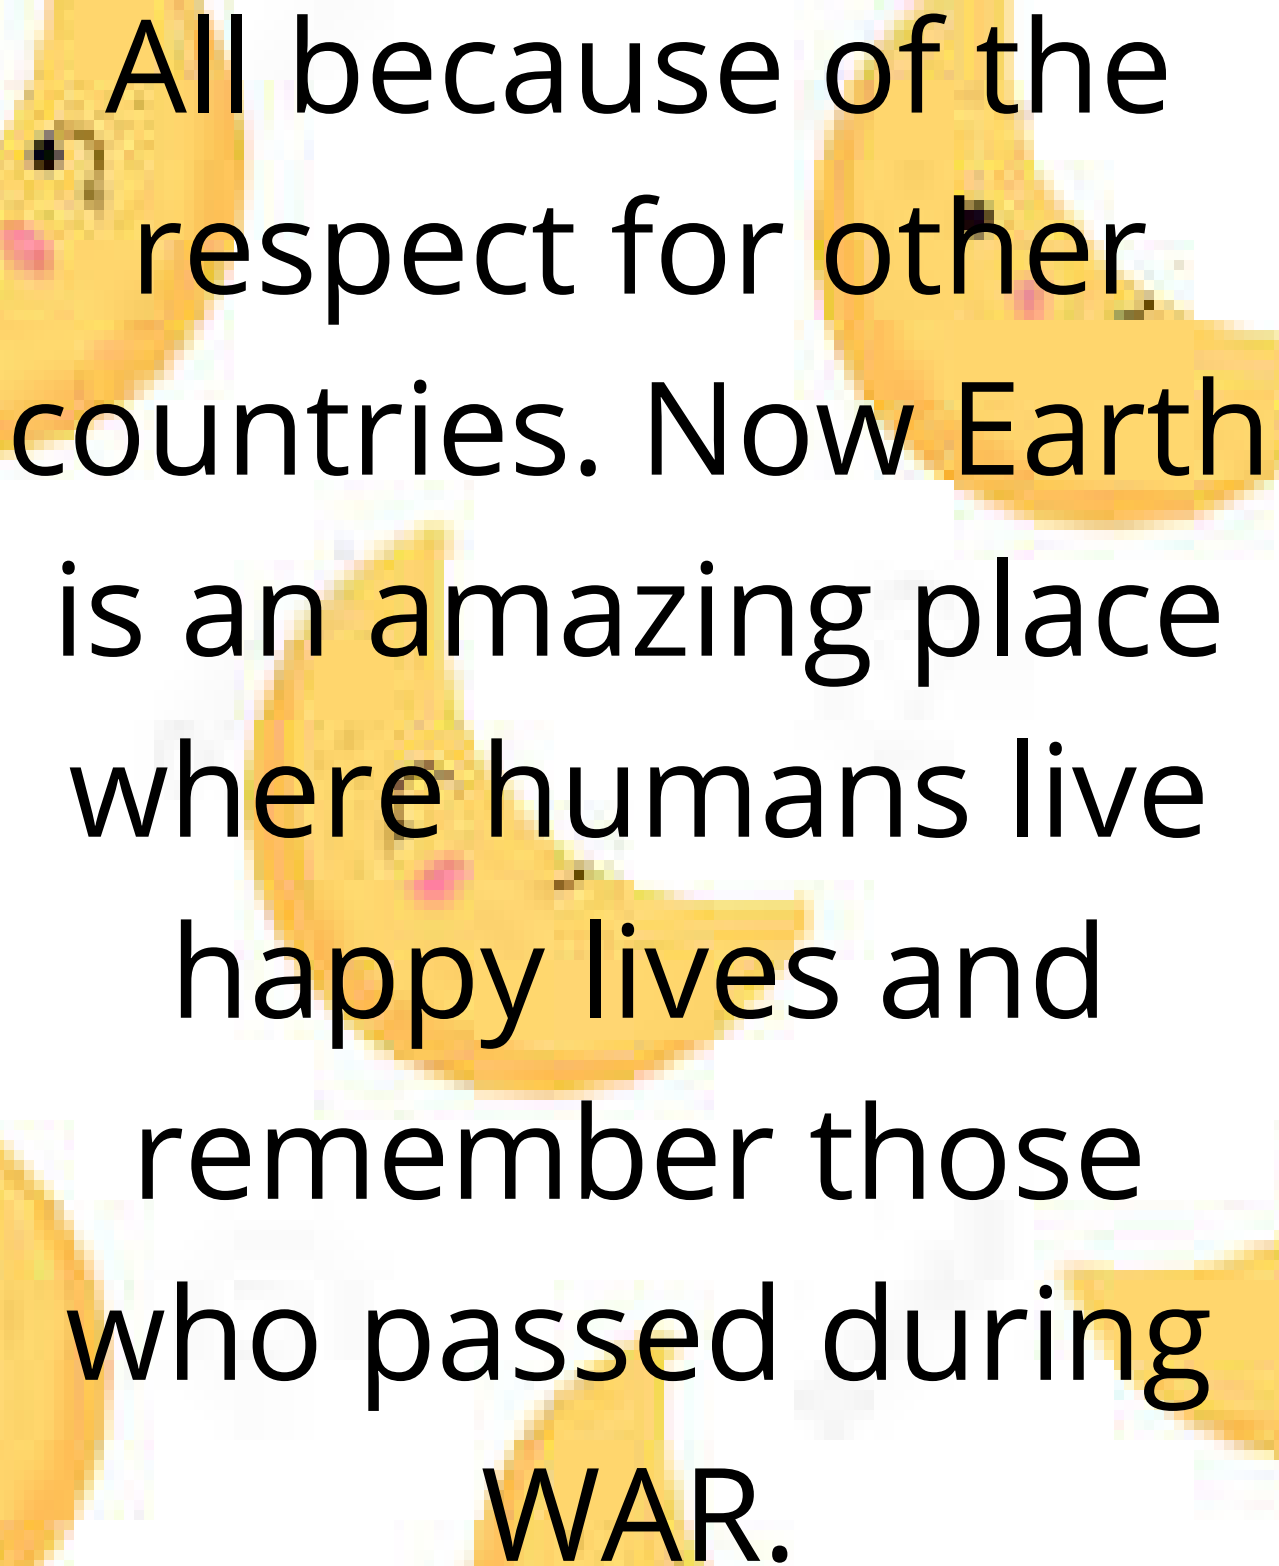

So they had a huge fight.
The fight went on for many years and the Humans and Animals
finally destroyed the dinosaurs and they became extinct. YAY!
They could finally live happy lives on Earth.

But there was one problem: The Earth wouldn't stop floating around space so Mars and Jupiter decided enough was enough. They were tired of hearing the humans complain about Earth so decided to use their powers and froze Earth in one place and so they did.

The humans were thankful for all their help and lived happily for years until War started people thought they had lost peace but they were wrong, it was not peaceful for years but soon they got peace back.

All because of the respect for other countries. Now Earth
is an amazing place
where humans live
happy lives and
remember those who passed during
WAR.

THE END

Mars and Jupiter
just can't agree
but what will happen when
their powers hit
each other?
