

My Three Stars and a Wish

Matariki is a time to reflect on the past year and I am going to reflect on my learning.

Maths is a subject that I've gotten better at, especially multiplying fractions and fractions alone. At the start of the year I was super rusty with my times tables algorithms.

Writing isn't my favourite but I have learnt to like it. I am getting better at paragraphs but I'm still not the best at them. My goal is to vary my sentence beginnings and sentence lengths. At the start of the year I never knew I could be where I am today.

I've gotten better at spelling and I feel like I have improved. At the start of the year I was so nervous to do the spelling test but I didn't get in the highest group. I am still proud of myself for giving it ago. I have seen improvement in my buddy test. My average score is now 8/10-10/10. At the start I only got 6/10 at the most.

My wish is to knit. At the start of the year me and Olivia tried to knit but it didn't go well.... My ultimate goal is to knit a scarf even though it might never happen. I still want to give it a try. If I do end up doing it I will be so proud of myself.

I am so proud of where I am today and I feel like I have learnt so much from Mrs Blomfield as my teacher and I'm so excited to keep on learning in the future.
