

The TTRS method

How does the TTRS Method work? Learners see, hear and type text – and can pronounce target words and phrases alongside audio. The combination of diverse sensory input helps material 'stick' and the method makes use of modular lessons, repetition, and dictation exercises to reinforce learning.

A way of learning that uses multi-sensory typing to support language skills development and help individuals in mastering subject content – based on the Orton-Gillingham Approach.

This method is particularly beneficial for students with Specific Learning Disabilities (including but not limited to dyslexia and dyspraxia).

The Centre is licenced to provide Touch Type Read and Spell. Additional information about the benefits of the course is available on www.readandspell.com

CONTACT US

Seabrook McKenzie Centre
68 London Street
Richmond
Christchurch 8013

03 381 5383
info@seabrookmckenzie.net
www.seabrookmckenzie.net

Independent Consultants in Specific Learning Disabilities

Touch Type Read and Spell at the Seabrook McKenzie Centre

AN AWARD WINNING
MULTI-SENSORY COMPUTER
AIDED COURSE

FOR STUDENTS WITH SPELLING, READING, OR WRITING DIFFICULTIES

SPELLING AND READING
DEVELOPMENT THROUGH
TOUCH TYPING

Spectators watch ath^letes.

PROMOTES LEARNING BY

Multisensory approach

Seeing, hearing, speaking, touching

Modular and self-paced

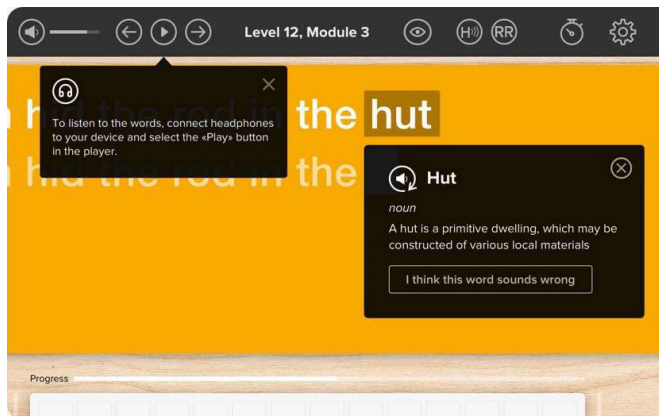

A modular, self-paced programme that is finely graded, structured and manageable.

Immediate feedback

Immediate self correction of errors and feedback of results, with a gentle approach.

No distractions

TTRS is animation and game-free to minimize distractions and ensure learning material is suitable for older children and adolescents.

Touch-type, Read and Spell (TTRS) is an award winning computer aided learning course for students aged 9 years and over with spelling, reading or writing difficulties.

The TTRS course aims to develop:

- ♦ Literacy
- ♦ Keyboard Mastery
- ♦ Confidence

Benefits of TTRS at the Centre

- ⇒ Our experienced tutor encourages and keeps students on track
- ⇒ Focus and support for a positive learning experience
- ⇒ Each person works at their own pace
- ⇒ Make up lesson included in fees
- ⇒ Small class size (8 maximum)

FREE OFFER

FEES

$265 for eight weeks, invoiced at the start of the term, including the opportunity for a make up lesson at the end of term.

Includes home access.

Contact the Centre to try one free lesson today!

LOCATION & TIME

4-5pm Mondays at the Centre. Tuesdays may become available as demand increases.

Tim bought 87 marbles but
Tim bought 87 mar_

