

A SPECIAL CAKE FOR A SPECIAL FRIEND

Created and illustrated by: Isadora Jammal & Tatjana Schachermayer

Today is a very special day: It's George's friend's birthday! He is going to his grandma's house to bake a cake for him

“Hi Georgie! What a big boy you are! You’re taller than ever before!”, says Grandma, “What do you want to do today?”

“I want to bake a big big big cake! It’s my BEEEST friend’s birthday!”, says
George

“What kind of cake do you want, Georgie?”, asks Grandma

George thinks for a moment...

“I want a beetroot cake!”

“A beetroot cake? What kind of friend would like a beetroot cake?!” asks Grandma

“My friend would LOVE a beetroot cake!”

“If you say so...”

It is a bright, beautiful, brilliant beetroot cake

“Grandma! I think my friend would also like a sand cake!”, says George

“A sand cake? What kind of friend would like a sand cake?!”

“My friend would LOVE a sand cake!”

“A sand cake it is then...”

It is a shiny, sparkling, smooth, sand cake

“Do you want another cake, Georgie?”

“Yes, now...Can we please bake a hamburger cake, Grandma?”, asks George

“A hamburger cake? What kind of friend would like a hamburger cake?!”

“My friend would LOVE a hamburger cake!”

“Let’s do it then...”

It is a huge, hilarious, healthy hamburger cake

“What now George?”, asks Grandma curiously

“I still want one more cake Grandma, but I don’t know which flavour he would like...”

“Hum...What about a chocolate cake? Everyone LOVES chocolate cake!”

“That’s a great idea Grandma!”

It was a cool, crazy, cheerful, chocolate cake

In the end the cake is as big as George, the icing shines in all different colours and the smell is simply amazing! It looks delicious!

And then... Something really bad starts to happen...

The cake is moving from side to side!

“Oh no!”, cries George

But it is too late... The cake has fallen all over George! He is covered from his head to his toes in sand, beetroot, hamburger and chocolate!

“Oh, oh...”, says Grandma, “What a mess!”

“I’m so sad! The cake should be a big surprise for my best friend, and now it’s all destroyed”, says George crying

At that exact moment the door opens and his friend come in!

But wait a second...

That's not a usual friend...

It is Nessie, his very special monster friend!

The kind of friend who would love a beetroot,
sand, hamburger,
chocolate cake!

“Nessie!”, says George, “I tried to bake the biggest cake ever for your birthday, but I am very sad because it fell down. It’s all destroyed now!”

“What are you talking about? It’s perfect George! I absolutely LOVE it! It doesn’t matter if it’s not how it’s supposed to be”, says Nessie excited

Then, Nessie runs to George and licks him from the bottom to the top

“Mmm...that’s yummy!”, cries Nessie out loud

George begins to giggle: “That’s ticklish, Nessie! Stop it!”

It is now Nessie's favourite and most special cake ever!
