Frequently asked questions

Can you sit some Achievement Standards within subjects digitally and others on paper?

Yes. Even within a subject you can choose to sit some standards digitally and others on paper.

Does the school provide laptops for students to use?

No. Students use their own laptops.

Frequently Asked Questions

A black rectangular sign with white text that reads "TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES PLEASE STAND BY". The sign is flanked by horizontal bars of yellow, cyan, green, magenta, red, and blue.

TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES
PLEASE STAND BY

What will happen if I experience technical issues during the examination?

If you experience technical difficulties, you can transfer to paper at any point, and will receive any time lost at the end of the examination. The amount of additional time will be at the discretion of the supervisor. If, due to a technical issue, you have completed a standard partially digitally and partially on paper, both sections will be marked by the same marker.

Frequently Asked Questions

- Can I change from digital to a paper examination during the examination period?

- Yes. You can opt out of your digital examination at any point, and for any reason. Once you have started a standard digitally, you must complete it before reverting to paper. You will not receive additional time to do so.

Frequently Asked Questions

- Am I able to visit other sites or reference material on my laptop during the examination?
- No. This is a breach of NZQA examination rules.

How do I register for using the NCEA digital platform?

NCEA Digital Examinations 2022

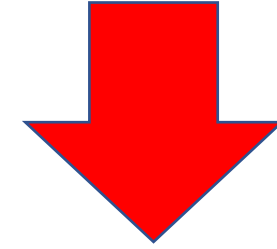

This year you are able to sit some of your NCEA external examinations in November using the NZQA digital platform. These are listed below.

Agricultural & Horticultural Science	Classical Studies	Business Studies
English	History	Media Studies
Health

PLEASE NOTE: In term 3 most of the PNBHS Senior Examinations will be on paper. There may be an opportunity for students to use the NZQA platform.

If you are interested in sitting any of your external NCEA examinations using a laptop, please visit the information about digital examinations on the NZQA website (click HERE).

If you have decided to sit any of your NCEA examinations digitally using the NZQA platform, please fill out the registration form HERE by 27th July 2022.

Any questions, see Miss Taylor in S5 or email on taylors@pnbhs.school.nz

Registration form

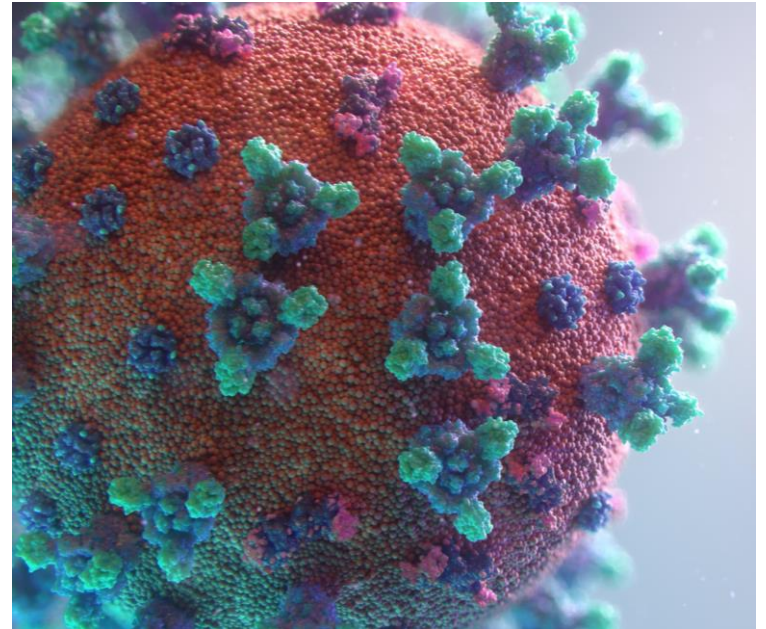

NCEA digital external examinations 2022

Fill out this form if you wish to sit some of your external examinations on your laptop using the NZQA digital platform. This form must be completed by Wednesday 27th July.

Please note:

- You will need to have your own laptop. You will be able to plug in a power cord.
- You don't have to sit all the Achievement Standards in a subject area digitally.
- Each examination is provided through the NZQA digital platform. There is no ability to cheat or visit other websites or documents which may be on your laptop. Breaches will result in loss of grade.
- After the 1st September, if you change your mind about sitting an examination using the digital platform, you will be sitting the examination on paper most likely in a digital classroom.
- More information will be provided later on in the year.

NCEA Examination Timetable
