

There is a Dinosaur in the jungle. He is hungry and finds some leaves to eat - oh no he eats too many and now has a tummy bug.

The Dinosaur calls his friends
Pigeon and Clark who are also T-Rex's.

They go for a walk and the three of them find leaves, their eyes go big and gold.
Pigeon and Clark eat too many leaves but Dinosaur eats no leaves, this time his friends are the ones that get sick.

Clark and Pigeon lay down to have a rest but they get back up as they have to go to the Dinosaur toilet. They both do big farts and start to feel much better.

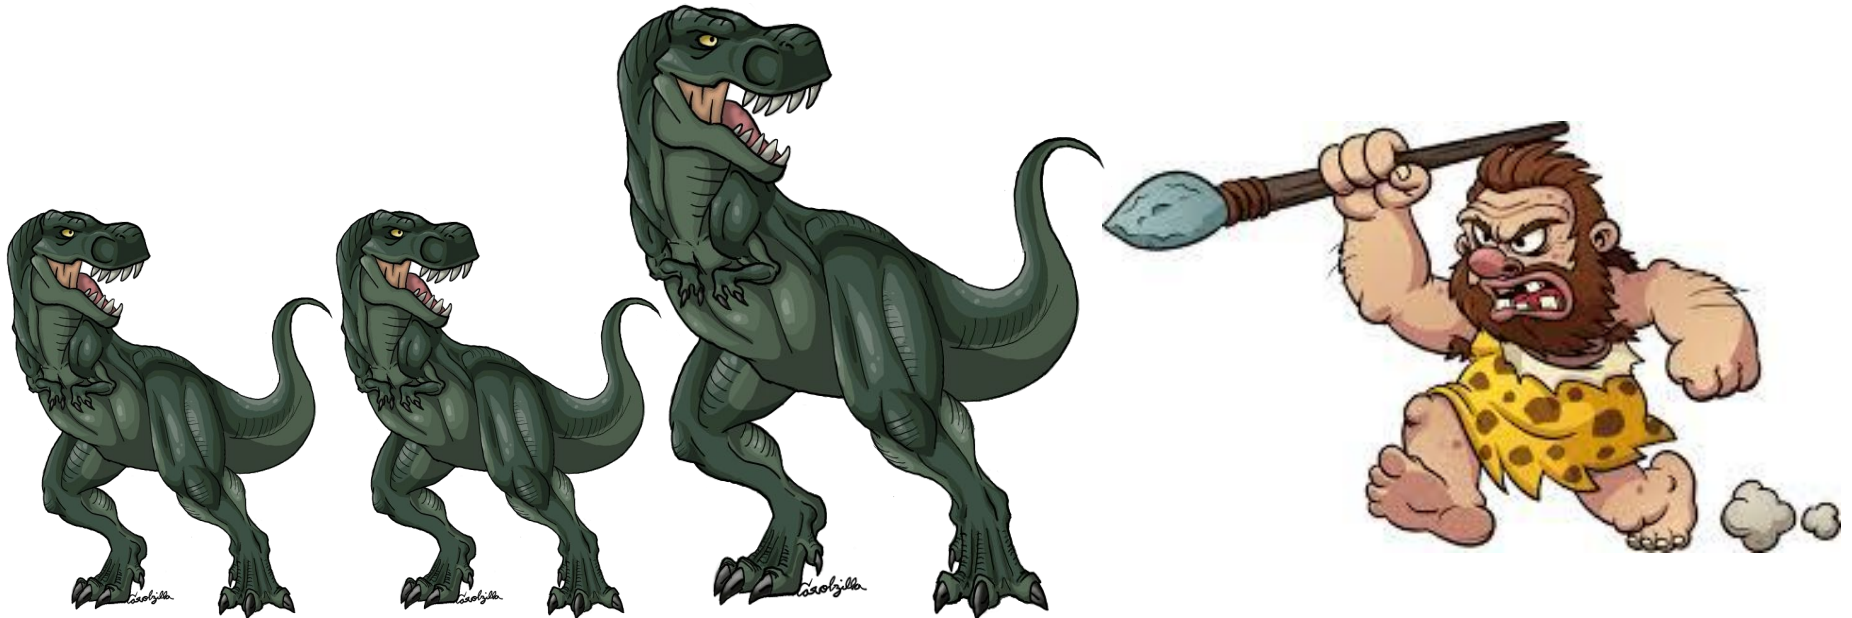

Pigeon, Clark and Dinosaur are done with eating leaves, they continue on their walk. Clark says "What is that up ahead guys?"

When they get closer they see it's a Caveman ready to hurt all of them with a spear. Clark runs in front of Pigeon and Dinosaur because Clark has armored skin, the Caveman gets scared and runs away.

The Dinosaur, Pigeon and Clark all go back home and relax after a busy day out.

But what they don't know is that the Caveman ended up following them home and knocks on the door. All the Caveman wants is to be their friend, once he explains how they misunderstood the spear and that his name is Jeff, they become friends and have so much fun together.

The four of them decided to have a dance party, but whoops Jeff had never seen a speaker before and ended up eating it. Lucky Dinosaur has more speakers.

The next morning they wake up to a boom, it was a big flying ship. A spaceman comes out of the spaceship and asks if he can please join the dance party, as he could hear the music from space. They all party and live happily ever after.
