DOOR EXPLORER

A new and powerful door sensor that single-handedly measures the distance between the trawl doors and provides information that previously had to be obtained from two sensors.

The sensor provides information on tilt, depth, sea temperature and location, as well as showing the height from the bottom along with echogram. Higher resolution and faster passing of information up to the vessel than has been seen before. An electric charge that lasts up to 10 days.

Scan the code to view video in real time of Door Explorer in action.
