Revised tsunami evacuation zones released for Hurunui District

Hurunui District Council is releasing revised tsunami evacuation zones on Friday 14 February 2025.

The revised evacuation zones are based on new modelling by GNS Science and show areas of Hurunui's coastline that could be flooded in a worse-case tsunami scenario.

The new modelling sees some change for Hurunui's tsunami evacuation zones, affecting properties located between Waipara Rocks (north of the Waipara River mouth) and Claverley.

There are no changes for the coastal area south of the Waipara Rocks, including Leithfield, Leithfield Beach and Amberley Beach.

View your property:

The revised tsunami evacuation zones will be uploaded on 14 February 2025, and will be available to view online at www.cdemcanterbury.govt.nz/hazards/tsunamis

See more on Council's website: www.hurunui.govt.nz

If you are inside the tsunami evacuation zones and you feel a long (more than one minute) or strong (hard to stand up) earthquake you should leave the tsunami evacuation zones as soon as the shaking stops. Move uphill or inland so that you are no longer in the tsunami evacuation zones. Don't wait for an official warning. A tsunami could arrive within minutes. Be mindful of landslides/rockfalls in hilly areas.
