

Fortunately/Unfortunately

My alarm clock rings and I get ready to go to the bus stop with my dog Remi and my bestie Paige. We're going to go to a swamp. Unfortunately the bus driver took a wrong turn.

Fortunately he'd realized that he took a wrong turn and went the other way.

Unfortunately the bus driver fell asleep.

Fortunately my dog started barking which woke up the bus driver.

Unfortunately it was too late and we fell off a cliff.

Fortunately there was some water below the cliff.

Unfortunately there was a shark in the water.

Fortunately it was a friendly tiger shark who offered to guide my dog, bestie and me to the nearest bus stop.

Unfortunately it was abandoned.

Fortunately there was a helicopter pad just a block away. Unfortunately we waited for five hours and there was still no sign of a helicopter.

Fortunately a helicopter finally came to pick us up.

Unfortunately Remi had to sit on my lap and we hadn't clipped his nails in seven weeks.

Fortunately I could see the swamp.

Unfortunately the helicopter's engine blew up!!

Fortunately we landed in the swamp water and saw shrek
