AMURI LIME CO.

NEWSLETTER SUMMER 2024

Lime Use in New Zealand Pastoral Farming

Why Use Lime?

- Neutralizes Soil Acidity: Restores soil pH balance, improving nutrient uptake.
- Boosts Growth: Enhances pasture productivity and supports livestock health.
- Reduces Toxins: Minimizes harmful aluminum and manganese in acidic soils.

Key Benefits

- Increased pasture production.
- Healthier livestock due to better-quality feed.
- Improved soil structure and biological activity.

Optimal Soil pH

- Target: 5.8–6.0 for most pastures.
- Essential for legume dominance and maintaining soil fertility.

Economic Insights

- Extensive Areas: Less viable for low-stocked regions due to cost constraints.

Environmental Considerations

- Lime contributes to CO₂ emissions but reduces cadmium uptake by plants, ensuring safer food production.
- Make the Most of Lime Boost your farm's productivity and profitability while caring for your soil and environment. Start applying lime today!
