

Summary of Student Achievement Data 2015

The following is a summary of Amesbury School's end of 2015 National Standards Data. Given that some of the cohorts are still quite small, I have only provided comparisons between boys and girls and against the National Public Achievement Data for 2014 to ensure that no individual students are able to be identified.

Reading

	Has not yet met the standard	Has met the standard	Has exceeded the standard
Reading	7%	51%	42%
		93%
National Achievement data	22%	78%
Male	8%	50%	42%

Writing

	Has not yet met the standard	Has met the standard	Has exceeded the standard
Reading	7%	51%	42%
		93%
National Achievement data	22%	78%
Male	8%	50%	42%

		Has met the standard	Has exceeded the standard
Reading – all students @ Amesbury School	7%	51%	42%
		93%
National Achievement data	22%	78%
Male - Amesbury	8%	50%	42%
Female - Amesbury	7%	52%	41%
	Has not yet met the standard	Has met the standard	Has exceeded the standard
Writing – all students @ Amesbury School	14%	59%	27%
		86%
National Achievement data	29%	71%
Male - Amesbury	19%	55%	26%
Female - Amesbury	8%	64%	28%

Mathematics

	Has not yet met the standard	Has met the standard	Has exceeded the standard
Mathematics – all students @ Amesbury School	14%	37%	49%
		86%

Summary of Student Achievement Data 2015

National Achievement data	25%	75%
Male - Amesbury	14%	30%	56%
Female - Amesbury	13%	44%	43%